

← Back to blog

ARCHIVED ARTICLE

Change Your Perspective to Change Your Life

Archived Insights

 Archived from previous site

Do you ever feel like you're stuck in a rut? The way you approach each day largely determines the kind of life you have.

At some point, you've most likely experienced a stressful event until you decided to adjust how you looked at the situation. Then, once you altered your perspective, you were able to clarify the issues and find a solution.

As a high performer, it is easy to go into an automated fight or flight response. Anxiety can cause you to lose your perspective quickly. Changing your perspective can be enlightening. A fresh look at a situation can even open your eyes to see a person differently or snap yourself out of survival mode.

Here are some strategies to alter your perception for more positive results in your life:

Entertain the improbable. Maybe you don't think something is possible. But what if your desire could become a possibility by just changing your perspective?

For example, maybe you've tried dieting over and over again without getting the results that you want. But what if this time, you shift your perspective from dieting to changing your lifestyle? You could then state with confidence, "I am losing weight and getting fit."

Jennifer Walker, LCSW

your new acquaintances. Why not see what happens if you're more open-minded and accepting? Tell yourself you're letting go of your "old" templates for looking at things.

Seek a more positive lifestyle. Whenever you want to enhance your life, shift the way you see something to a more positive position. Let's say your two sisters went out shopping and didn't invite you to go. You might feel left out, rejected, and even angry about it. But what if you were to view the situation differently, even positively?

Perhaps they didn't really plan to shop. Maybe it happened spontaneously out of a need they both had to go shopping for something right then. Plus, your birthday's coming up in 2 weeks. Maybe they're planning a special surprise for you.

Recognize that when you focus on having a more positive life, your perspective will change for the better.

Avoid any old ways of looking at things. When you make the connection that your perspective is what creates any discontent you feel, you can then choose to view things differently. For example, let's say you usually think your boss gives you the project with the most work just because he wants to dump on you.

What would happen if you were to shift your perspective to the idea that your manager trusts you most to successfully complete the most challenging projects? You'd feel a lot differently about your boss, job, and your own abilities.

Give people another chance. Even if someone has upset you, entertain the idea that it wasn't intentional. Maybe they were having a rough day or made a mistake in judgment. Perhaps a misunderstanding took place between you. One of the best ways to get out of a rut is to change how you respond to those around you.

A beautiful strategy to change your perspective is to let go of a grudge. Try it, you'll love it. After all, grudges and anger hurt you far more than they hurt the other person.

If you want to get out of a rut, try applying these techniques to change your perspective. You'll discover the power you have over your own life and be thrilled with the results.

Jennifer Walker, LCSW

Jennifer Walker, LCSW

Licensed clinical social worker in Georgia & Florida, specializing in anxiety, burnout, and life transitions for high-achieving women.

Ready to take the next step?

If you're a high-achieving woman navigating anxiety, burnout, or a difficult life transition, therapy can help. I work with professional women in Georgia and Florida who are ready to move from survival mode into something that actually feels like living.

Book a Free Consultation →

Jennifer Walker, LCSW

Jennifer Walker, LCSW

Anxiety therapy and burnout recovery for high-performing professional women.

✉ jennifer@anxietytherapyforwomen.com

🕒 Monday – Friday by appointment

📍 Online therapy for Georgia & Florida residents

QUICK LINKS

About Jennifer

Therapy Services

Programs

Jennifer Walker, LCSW

Blog

Client Portal

SPECIALTIES

Anxiety & Burnout Therapy

Career Clarity Therapy

Life Transitions Therapy

High-Performing Women Therapy

DBT & CBT Approaches

Telehealth \(GA & FL\)

Facebook

Instagram

YouTube

Pinterest

© 2026 JK Walker, LLC. All rights reserved.

Practicing as Jennifer Walker, LCSW.

Good Faith Estimate

Website Disclaimer

Client Portal